York Insurance Services Group names Anthony J. Galioto President and CEO

PARSIPPANY, N.J. (April 16, 2009) – York Insurance Services Group, Inc., a premier provider of a full range of insurance services, including claims administration, managed care, specialized loss adjusting, risk management, public entity pool administration, loss control and others, today announced that effective Monday, April 20, 2009, Anthony Galioto will become president and CEO as well as a director of York Insurance Services Group, reporting to the Board of Directors. Thomas MacArthur will remain chairman of the Board of Directors.

“Since 2005, York has more than doubled in size and added numerous services for its customers,” says MacArthur. “We have also completed six acquisitions and, along with the rest of the industry, entered into a far more complex operating environment. I have worked with Tony in a number of capacities over the years, most recently as a member of our Board of Directors, and his wealth of experience in insurance services and focus on serving customers will deepen our management capacity and position us for continued strong growth.”

In addition to being a current member of York’s board of directors, Galioto has had extensive prior experience with York and its services. From 1996 to 2000, he was president of AIG Insurance Services, Inc., as well as head of AIG’s managed care and RMIS, which are services also offered by York today. Galioto was also president of AIG Claims Service, Inc., transforming it into a customer-centric organization. From 2000 through 2006, Galioto served as president of AIG Domestic Accident and Health and then president of Worldwide Accident and Health. In 2006, he was named senior executive – East, AIG Companies, where he led cross-sell efforts for all of AIG’s products.

“I am very excited to be joining York, especially at this point in time. It is a strong company and is well positioned to grow in this environment. York has great customers, committed and experienced employees, and a strong customer service focus that I share. I look forward to leading York’s very talented management team and continuing to work with Tom and the Board,” says Galioto.
